

January 10-16, 2008

desert post WEEKLY

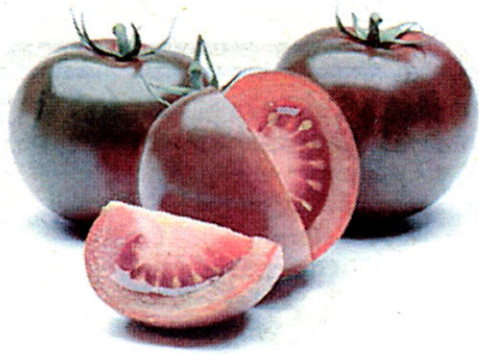

! food

quick bites

Rusty-brown goodness

What's rusty-brown with dark green shoulders and a sweet taste that's simply to die for? Dulcinea Farms' Rosso Bruno tomatoes, that's what.

These charming little hybrid tomatoes are wonderful sliced in a sandwich in their shoulders (the bit near the stem end) are green shoulders and the bottoms are beginning to brown up. When the little darlings are mostly brown with just a bit of green at the shoulders, they're perfect for salads and other fresh uses. When they're completely brown, try using them in cooking, including yummy dishes like tomato granita, tomato and cheese strata or Cheese and Chicken Filled Tortellini with Tomato Sauce Laced with Bacon and Onion.

The recipes, legend of the fruit and nutritional info can all be found at www.dulcinea.com. The tomatoes can be found at Vons, Pavilions and Ralphs stores in the Coachella Valley.

— Judith Salkin